

New GEI Sexual & Relational Health Workshop

Empowering Inclusive Care for Transgender and Gender-Diverse (TGD) Patients

Presented as a pre-course at the USPATH Scientific Symposium

 Santa Ana Pueblo, NM |  September 26–30, 2025

Join us for a new GEI workshop designed specifically for medical and behavioral health professionals committed to advancing affirming care for transgender and gender-diverse (TGD) individuals. This in-person training—part of the USPATH Scientific Symposium—offers a unique opportunity to deepen your clinical expertise in a collaborative, multidisciplinary setting.

Led by experienced clinicians, the workshop will explore the sexual and relational health needs in gender-affirming care, with a focus on the unique needs of TGD patients. Topics include inclusive sexual health in TGD care, navigating relationships and intimacy, intersectionality in sexual and relational health and best practices. You'll leave equipped with the tools to provide trauma-informed, inclusive care that honors each patient's identity, autonomy, and well-being.

What You'll Learn

- Conduct affirming and inclusive sexual health assessments for TGD patients
- Understand the impacts of gender-affirming medical treatments on sexual function and relationships
- Navigate complex relational dynamics, including disclosure, partner support, and intimacy challenges
- Provide competent care for sexual concerns, including pleasure, pain, and dysfunction
- Recognize psychosocial factors influencing sexual and relational well-being in TGD populations
